THEME: ISSUES FACING THE FAMILY AND THE COUNSELLING RESPONSE

Dr. Chris Hart - Psychologist, Nairobi.

Dr. Maggie Robson - Senior Lecturer in Psychology, Keele University -UK

Dr. Susan Pattison - Lecturer, Newcastle University

CONFERENCE DETAILS – Families are facing many challenges in their lives; some of them traumatic. We know that there are serious family issues of child abuse (sexually, physically and emotionally), divorce and separation, substance abuse, the HIV/AIDS pandemic, terminal illnesses, loss and bereavement, sexuality, domestic violence to contend with within the family.

The list of issues is probably endless. Families are offered family therapy and/or counselling to help them grow and develop into emotionally healthy families. The goal of most therapy is to enable members within the family to live constructively and to develop, grow and deal with these issues.

Practitioners, counsellors and researchers in this field have a valuable contribution to offer through alerting us to the work that is currently being done, both nationally and internationally, and the aim of this conference is to give these efforts a voice.

Other topics will include professional training, supervision, accreditation, counselling in schools, ethical concerns and standards.

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION – We invite abstract submissions from people who would like to make a presentation. Our official abstract form should provide sufficient information to allow the presentation to be placed in the most appropriate section of the programme. The conference committee will review the abstracts submitted.
